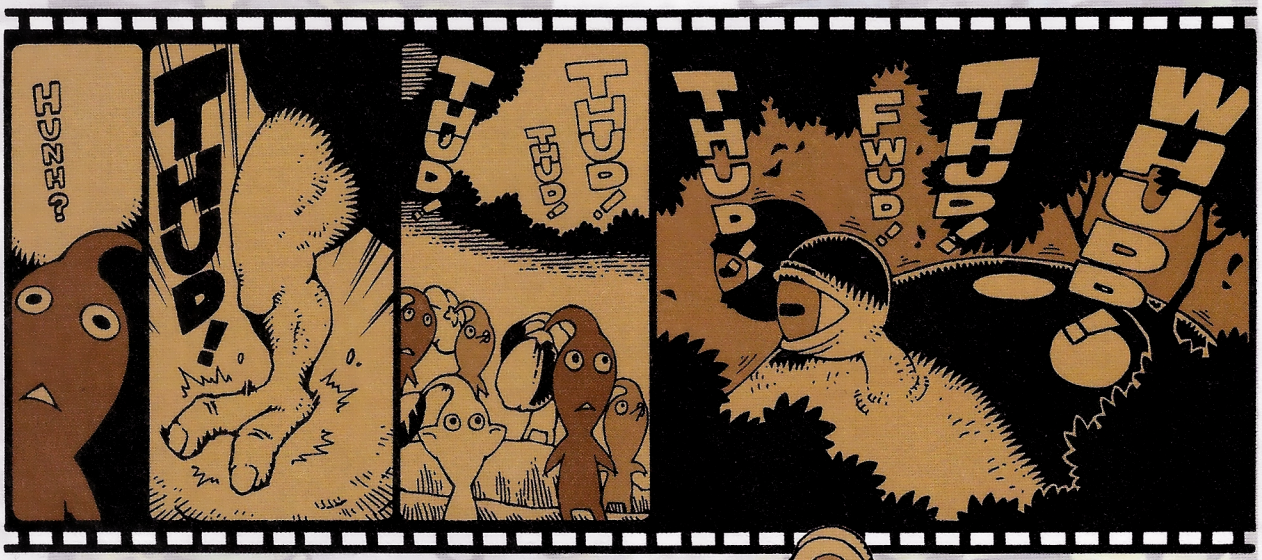
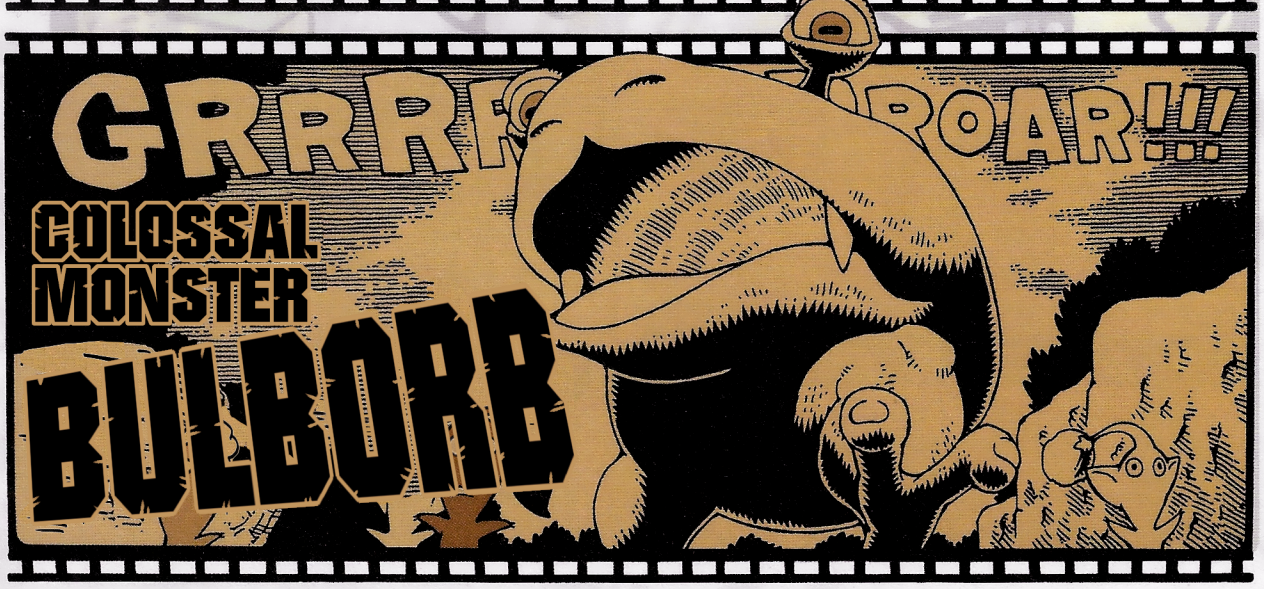
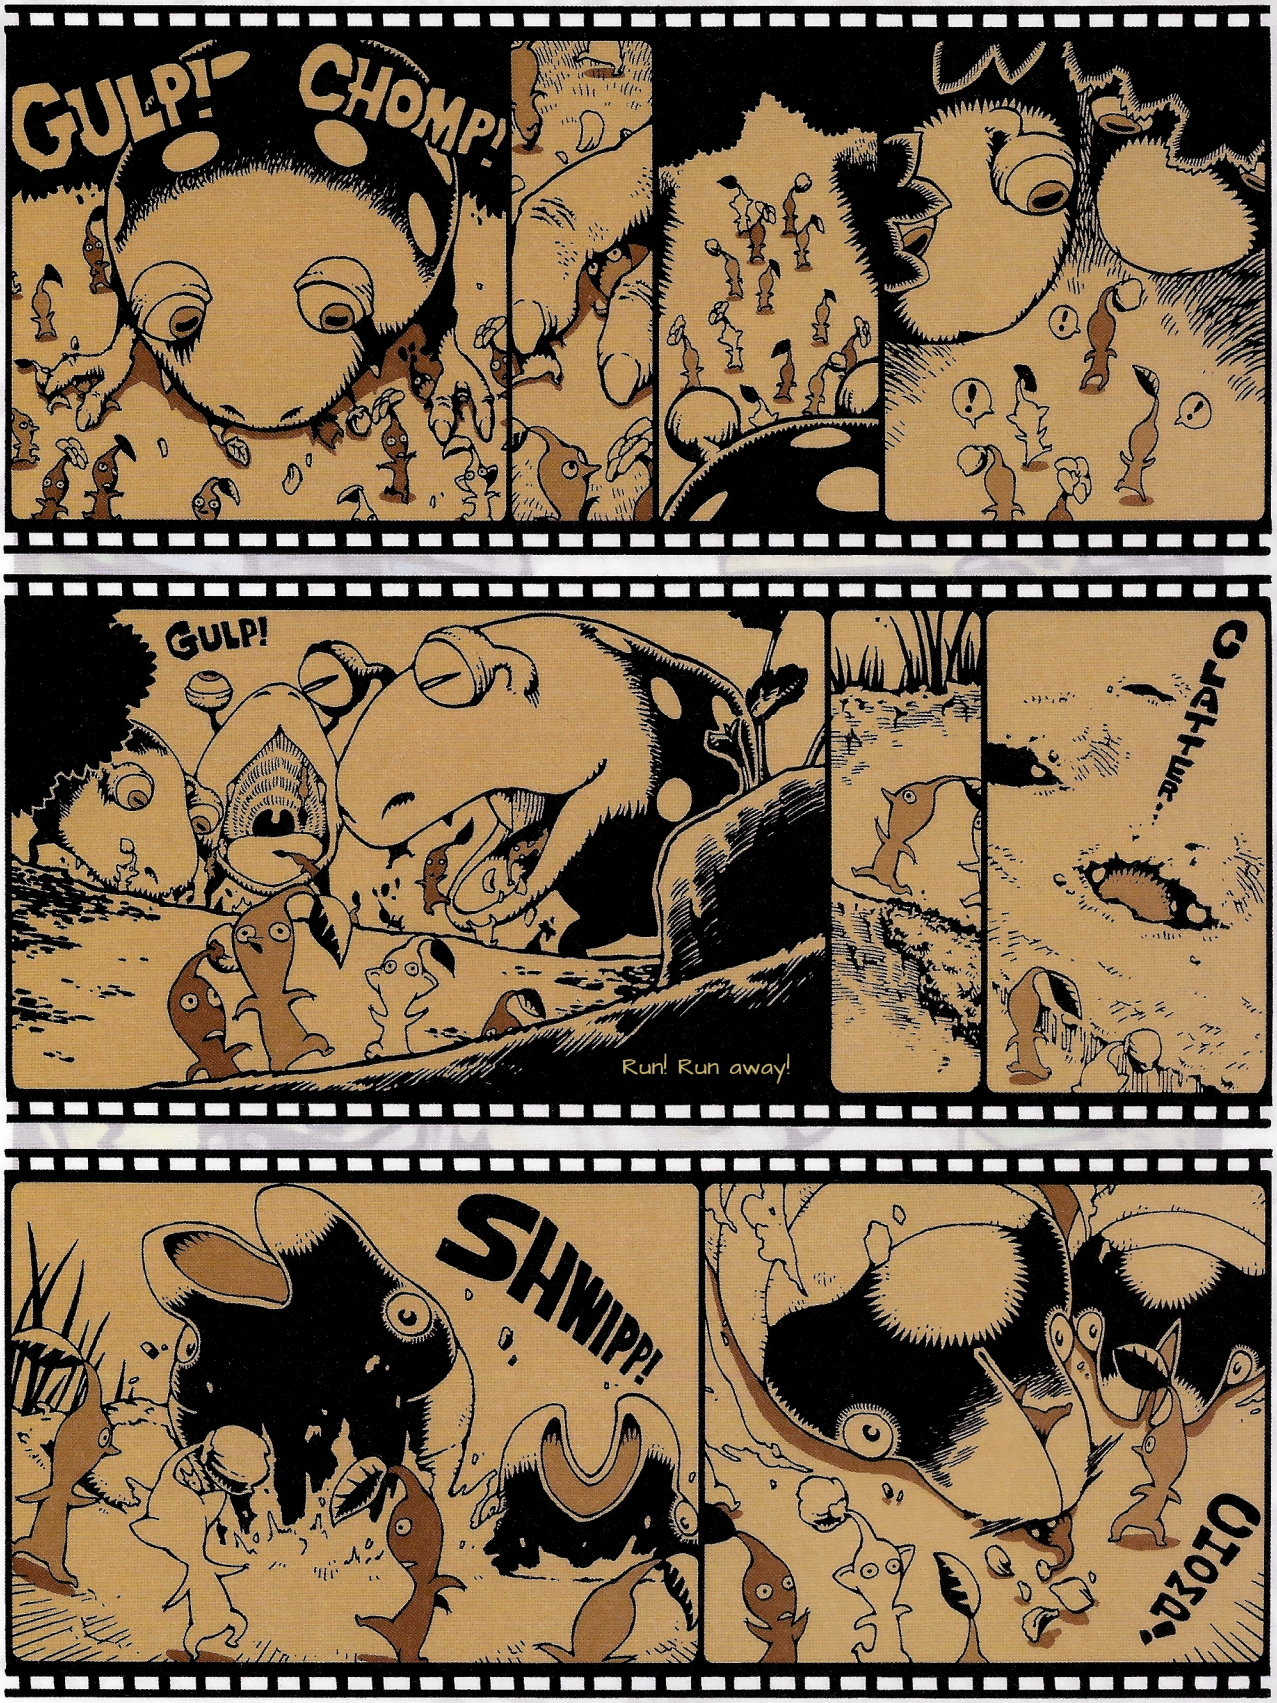
Survival of the fittest... That is the law which governs all living beings.
These are the beings who cannot escape this fate, living solely to die...

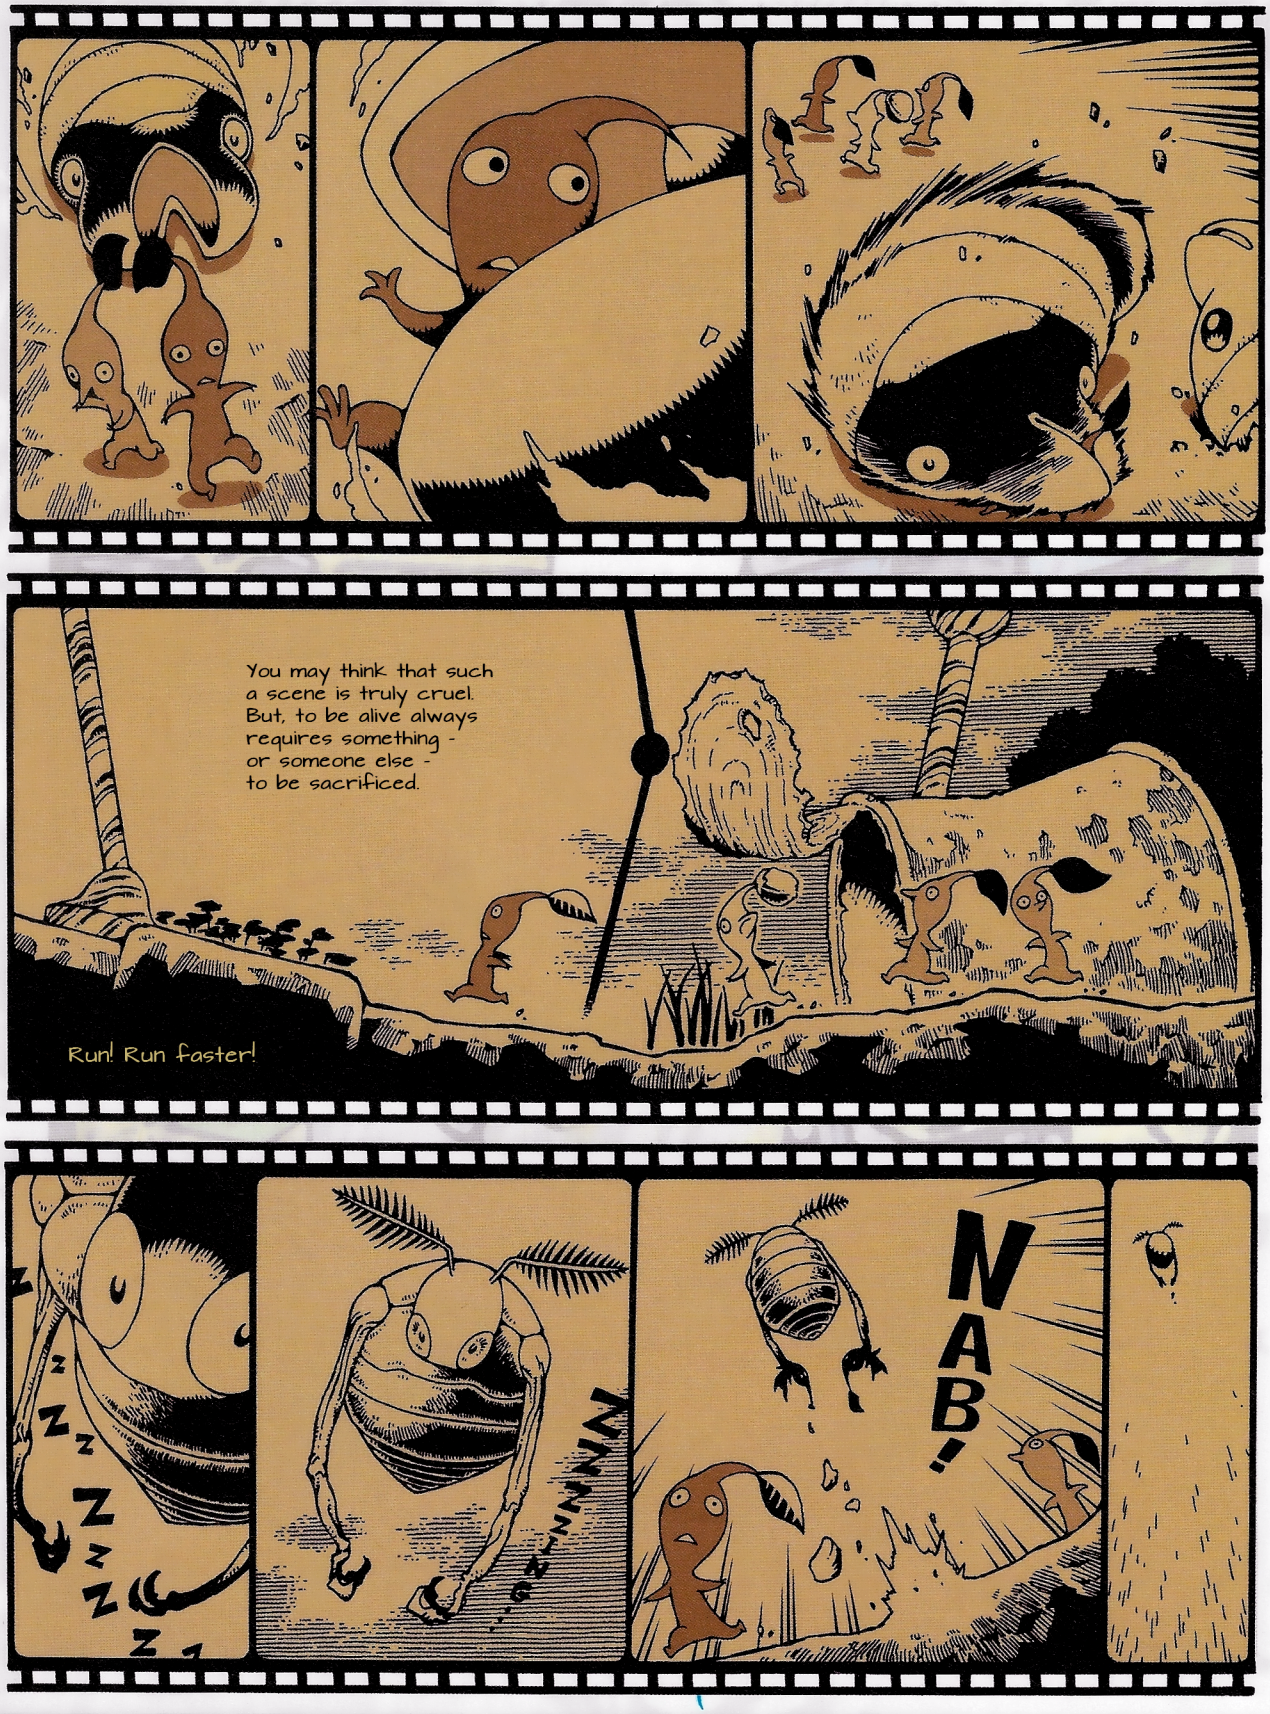




The long awaited "BOWSER MOVIE" is finally here. And it seems like the first in the series is all about Pikmin.



The Pikmin commercials gained quite a lot of popularity - more interest than actual people playing the game. I bet. There's probably a lot of people who don't even know it's a Gamecube game. huh...



You may think that such a scene is truly cruel. But, to be alive always requires something - or someone else - to be sacrificed.
Run! Run faster!

NNNNNNNNNN NAB!

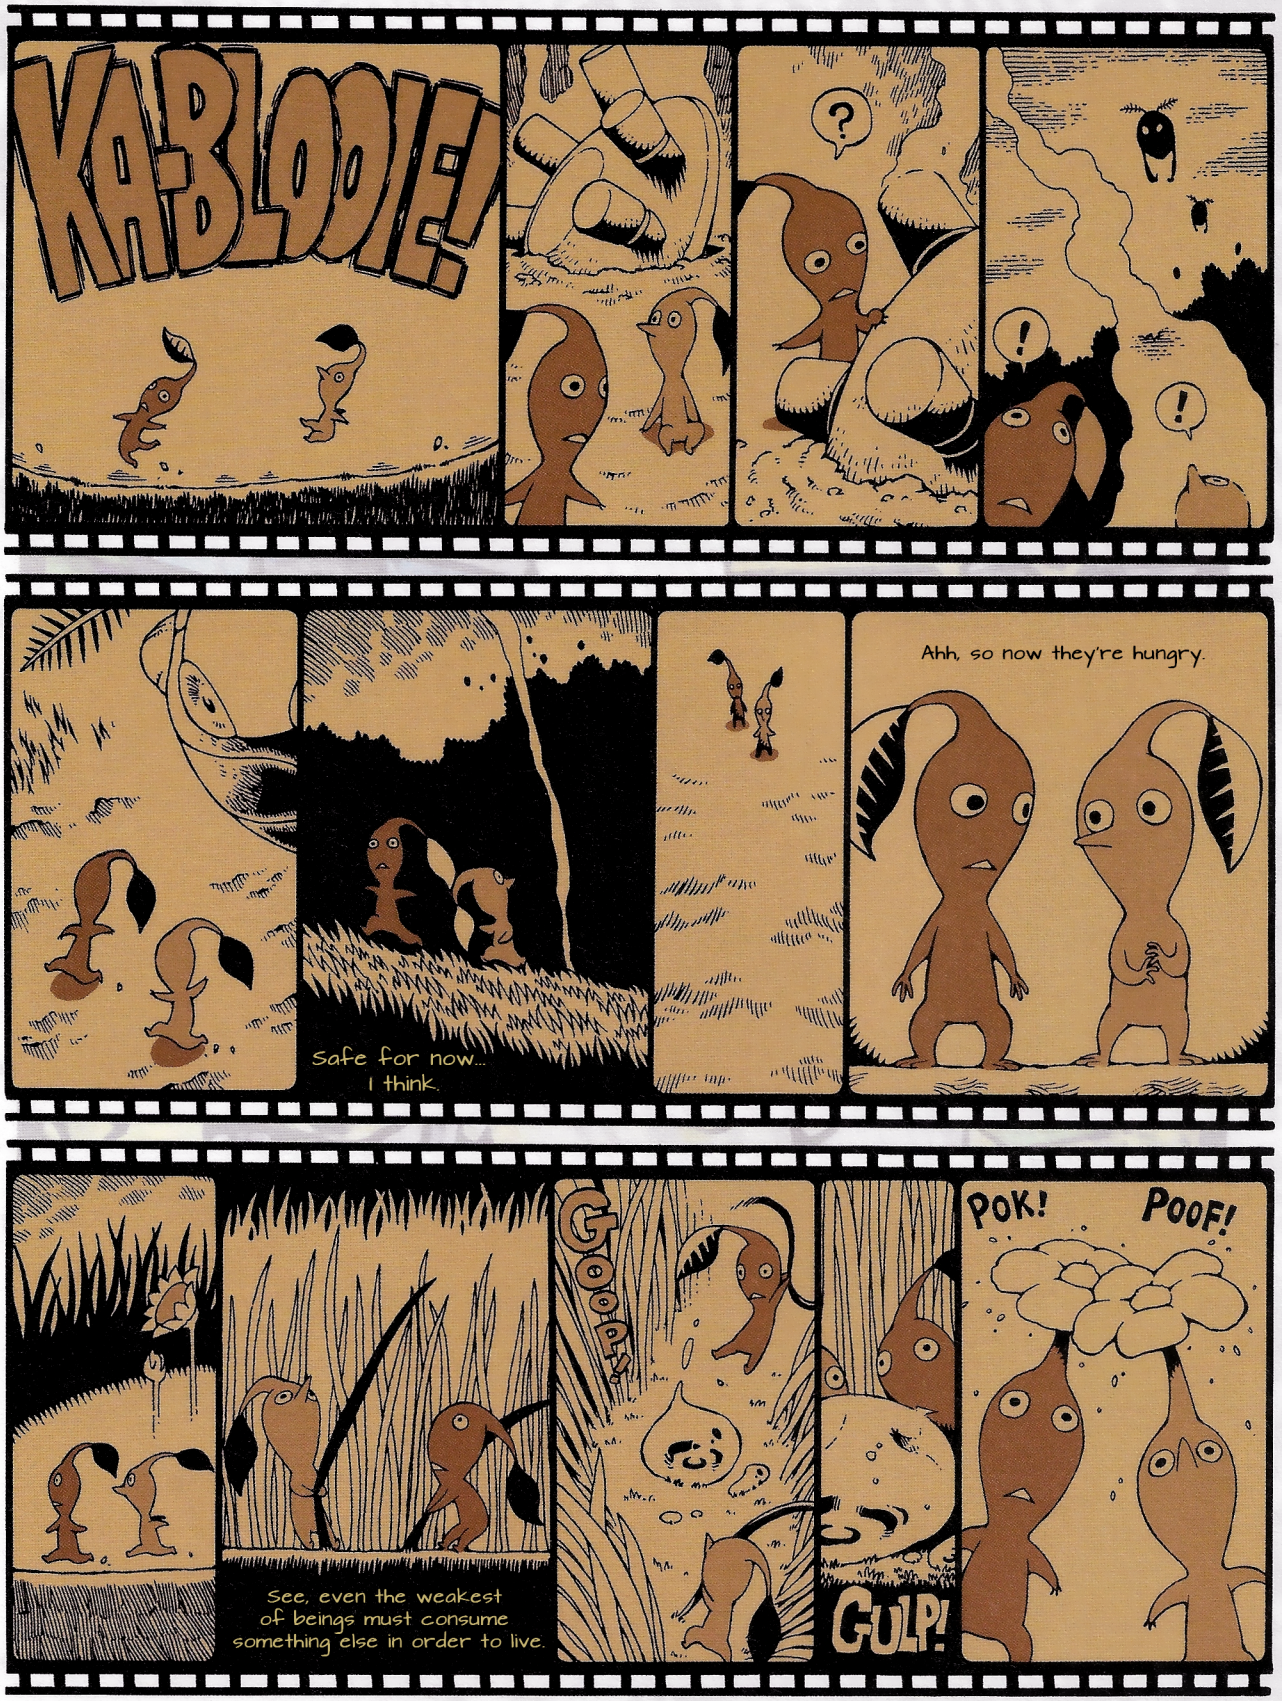
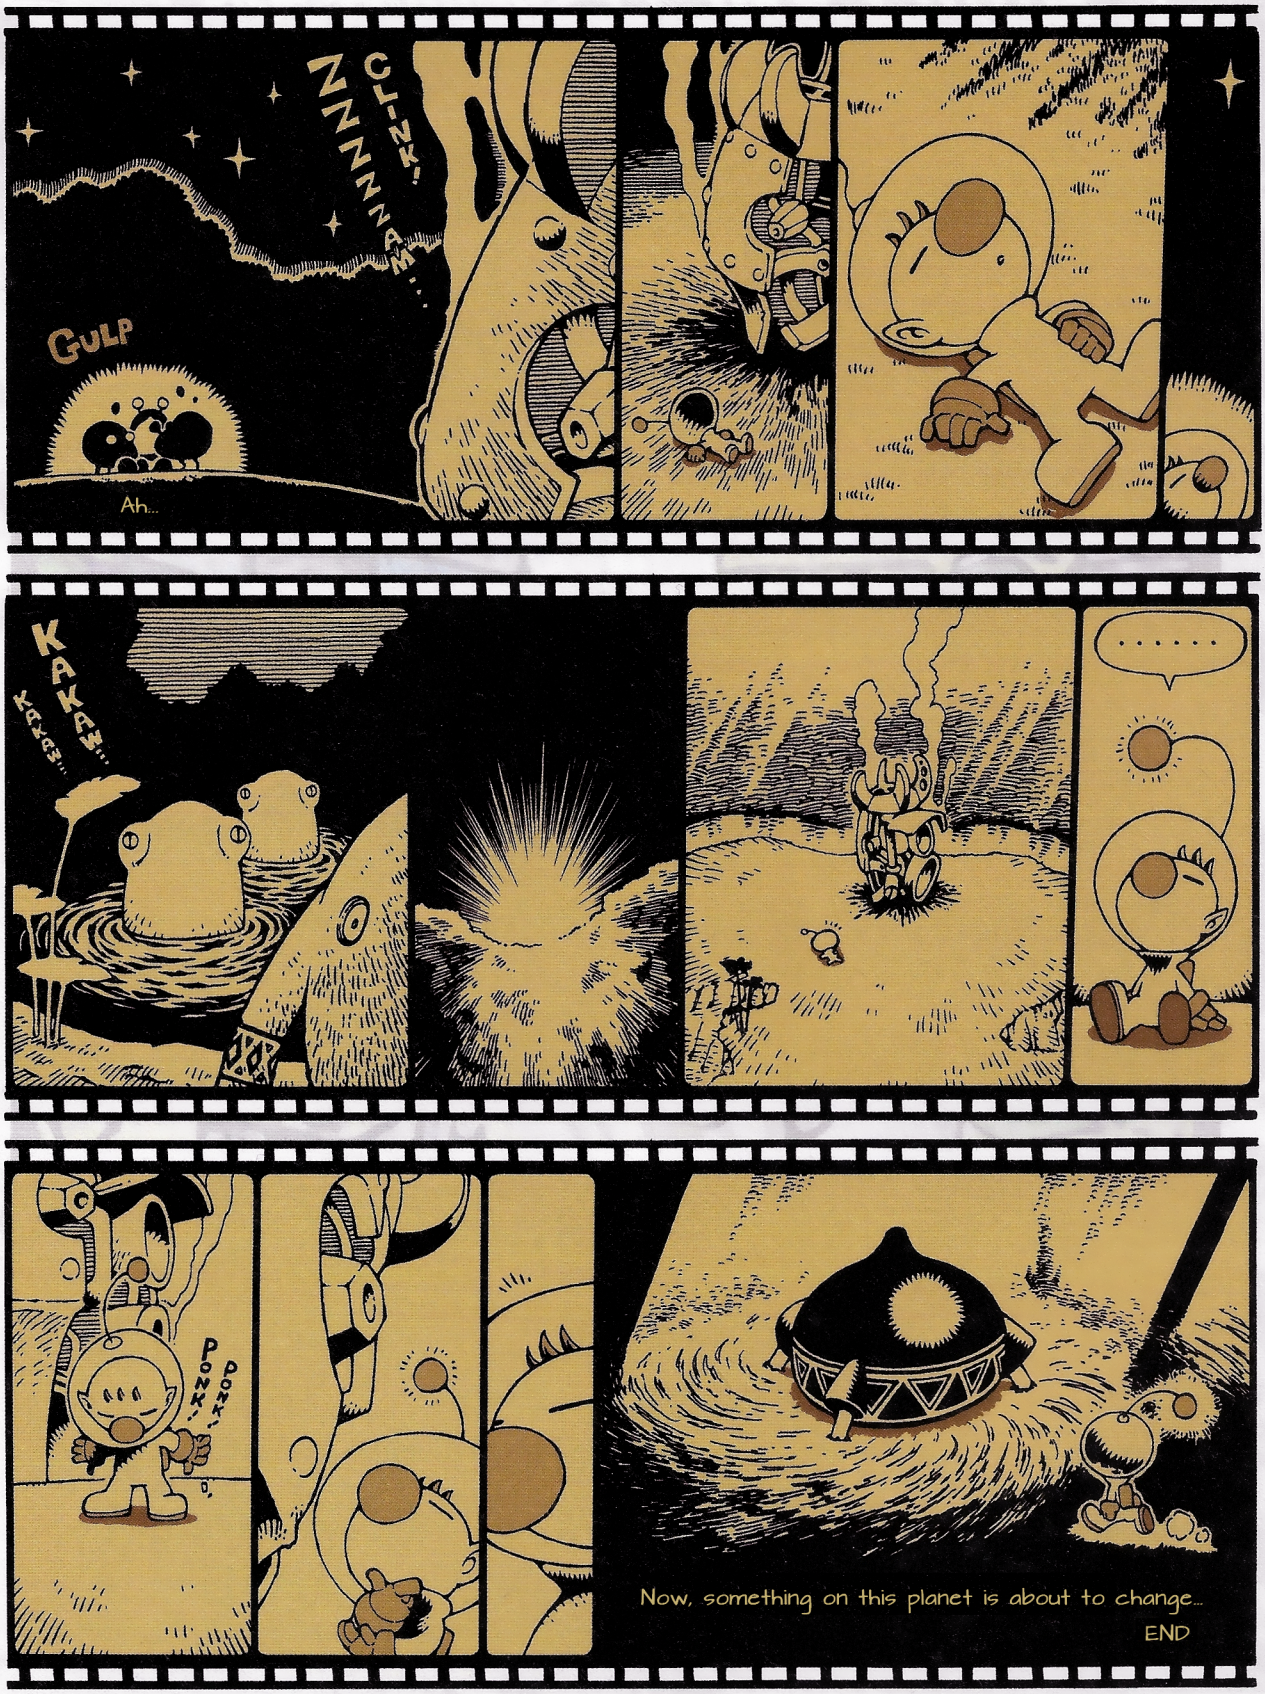
The world of Pikmin actually delves into quite gritty themes, huh? But playing a game where you can see creatures living out their lives right before your very eyes, it feels kinda incredible.



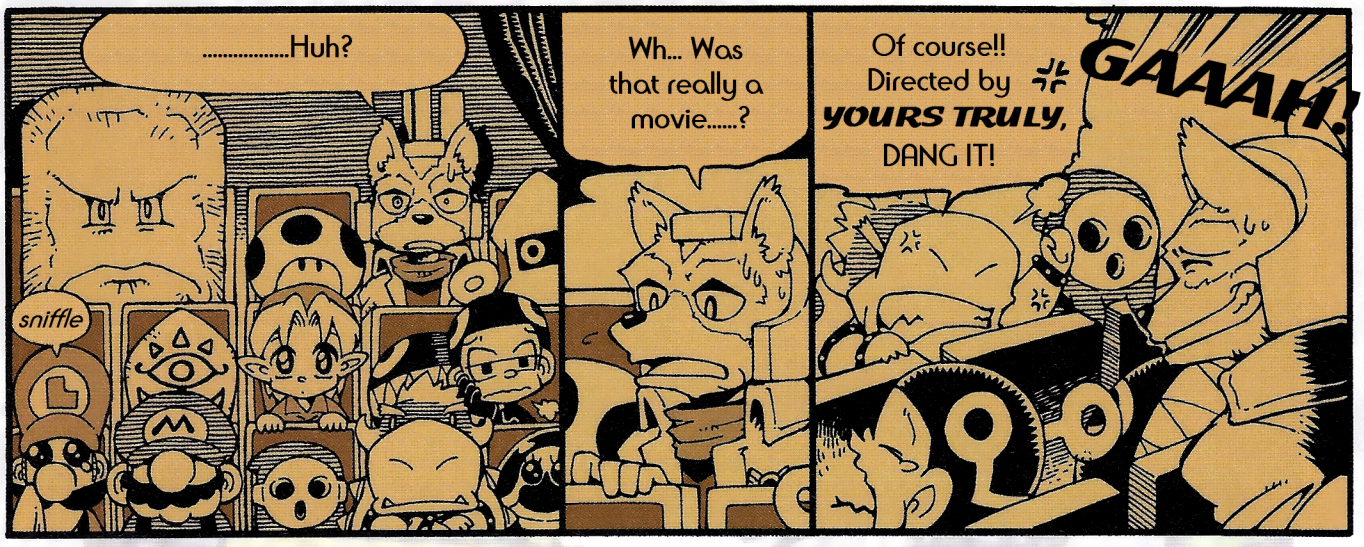
It's just too bad that the in-game time limit doesn't allow for us to closely observe how these creatures behave and act. The most fun part is right after the start, where there's no time limit.

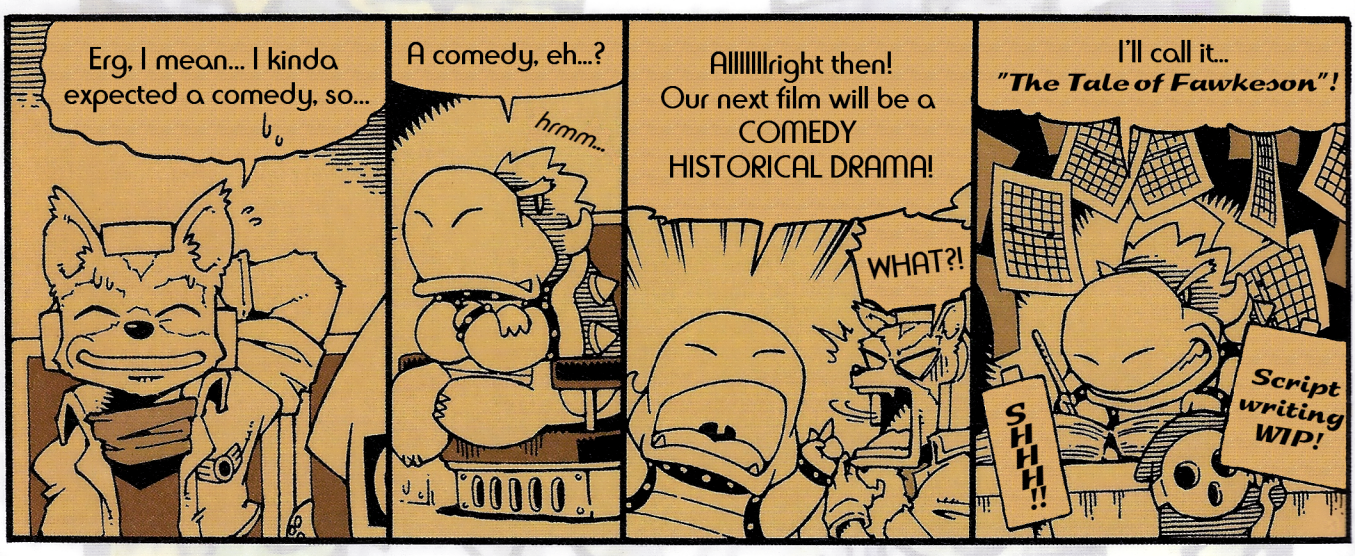
And of course, these beings are then in turn eaten by stronger creatures...
TAP... TAP
Why, oh why...
For what reason was I born into this world, I wonder...

For the next game, I'd love to be able to indulge myself in this world they've made at a more leisurely pace. Really wanted to take the Pikmin out on a little chill march, you know?

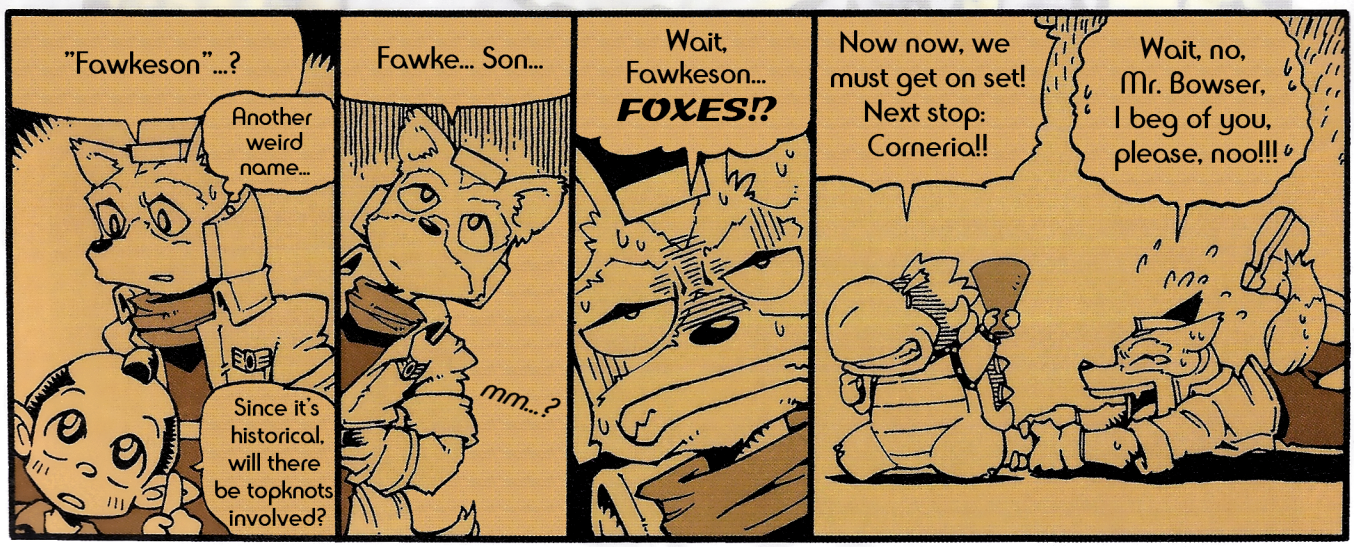


By the way, if you still haven't played Pikmin, please take this chance to try it out. Y'know, so that we'll actually get another instalment... LOL!





Erg, I mean... I kinda expected a comedy, so...
A comedy, eh...?
hrmm...
AllllllIright then! Our next film will be a COMEDY HISTORICAL DRAMA!
WHAT?!
I'll call it... "The Tale of Fawkeson"!
SHHH!!
Script writing WIP!



"Fawkeson"...?
Another weird name...
Since it's historical, will there be topknots involved?
Fawke... Son... mm...?
Wait, Fawkeson... FOXES!?
Now now, we must get on set! Next stop: Corneria!!
Wait, no, Mr. Bowser, I beg of you, please, noo!!!

As for the next issue, I'm not sure what we'll be putting up just yet. Maybe something on "Lost Kingdoms 2"? Or maybe not, dunno.

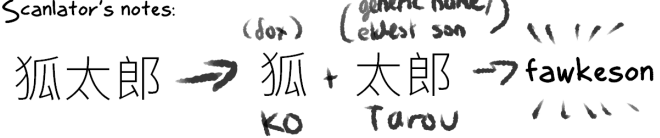
Scanlator's notes:



the joke that bowser made about his new film title is that he gave it a weird name that probably sounds like "kotarou" in japanese but with the weirdest combination of kanji, separating it into ko and tarou makes fox realize that the ko in the name is FOX, and thus is a little shaken up. I borrowed the idea and turned fox into "fawkes" and ended it with -son like many male names are, and hey the son works with the original meaning of tarou! and thus fawkeson. uh yeah.
added "the tale of" because i thought it'd really make the historical flair good.

if you don't like my choices well
NO WORRIES! I HAVE RAWS FOR YOU!!

this scanlation was done on my shitty home scanner and much color correction was applied. otherwise it was a pretty hands off scan with minimal editing, but i'm happy with it.

btw the artist is prolly Shigehisa Nakaue, because he has a very distinct way of drawing bowser. he currently does the main mario 2D art rn. cool!

speaking of art, when i shared this comic to the pikmin ppl on reddit, they led me to a short student animation that was most likely based off this comic! cool!

also, play lost kingdoms 2. this volume of nindori was purchased solely because of the LK2 content in there. it is better than elden ring.

THX!!!
